

March 30, 2020

To our valued customers, suppliers, and partners,

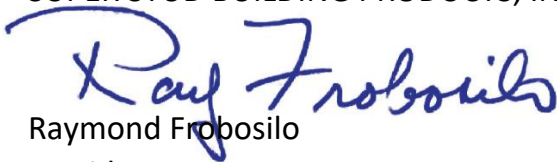

We know this is a difficult time for us all, especially as we navigate the uncharted waters created by COVID-19. With multiple messages issued by federal, state, and local agencies, as well as various stories circulated in the media and online, we want to be very clear that Super Stud in Edison NJ and Super Stud South in Hattiesburg MS, as well as our sales and engineering support for all locations, are ready to support your needs.

The safety of our associates and employees is paramount, and we are ensuring our entire organization is practicing enhanced hygiene standards, social distancing, and increased cleaning. We are also following other recommendations by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and have set up protocols for both pickup and delivery of our products, which limit the exposure of our drivers and customers. We are also working with our local manufacturing associations and monitoring the ever-changing state and local requirements to ensure our employees and drivers comply with movement restrictions and curfews. So far, that has not impacted our ability to deliver products to suppliers and job sites, including several medical projects that, when complete, will directly impact our country's capacity for handling the COVID-19 outbreak.

During these unprecedented times, situations can change quickly, and we will post any updates to our company website at www.buysuperstud.com. Our management team is monitoring the situation closely. We are committed to keeping our customers, suppliers, and others up to date on any impacts to our business that may affect your business.

We appreciate your support. If you have any questions, please contact your local Super Stud salesperson, or call us directly at 800-477-7883.

Sincerely,
SUPER STUD BUILDING PRODUCTS, INC.
